Professional Experience (Pre-PhD)

Product Manager, AML Technology – Sanctions Screening Citibank, Tampa, FL, 2013–2018

- Directed the development roadmap for five products in a global sanctions-screening technology portfolio, scaling infrastructure from 10 million to over 1 billion monthly transactions.
- Built a proprietary requirements-management system used by global stakeholders to prioritize and track development, processing roughly 300 new requests per month across eight products.
- Led root-cause and pre-onboarding analyses for new global business portfolios; expanded platform coverage from a U.S.-centric base to 16 installations covering all countries with a Citigroup presence.

Data Analysis Consultant

Citibank, Tampa, FL, 2010–2013

- Performed optimization analysis on sanctions-screening detection engines, reducing false-positive rates by 70% while holding correct-match rates constant.

Risk Manager / Senior Risk Manager American Express, New York, NY / Singapore / Salt Lake City, UT, 2004–2008

- Designed and ran quasi-experimental and applied econometric analyses linking marketing, credit decisioning, and collections data to identify profitable but overlooked applicant segments.
- Built an income-estimation model from transaction data to retarget marketing campaigns in Singapore, improving customer response rates.
- Directed data-integration projects with external credit bureaus and vendors to expand risk-scoring coverage while reducing delinquency rates.

Forecasting Manager / Forecasting Analyst American Express, Salt Lake City, UT, 2001–2004

- Managed a team of four analysts building and maintaining statistical models to forecast staffing needs and operating costs; reduced forecast variance from 15% to 10%.
- Designed and piloted a data-verification workflow and an insourced customer-service application, evaluated through pre/post outcome comparisons on approval rates and processing time.
